REQUEST UNDER ENVIRONMENTAL INFORMATION (SCOTLAND) REGULATIONS 2004

We refer to your request for information, received by email on 13th August 2018. The information you have requested is environmental information, as defined in Regulation 2 of the Environmental Information (Scotland) Regulations 2004 (EIRs). The Park Authority has an obligation to deal with your request under the EIRs and an option to also deal with your request under the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 (FOISA), unless the public interest lies in dealing with your request solely under the EIRs. We consider that the public interest in dealing with your request solely under the EIRs outweighs the public interest in also dealing with your request under FOISA, on the basis that the public interest is not served by duplicating consideration of your request under both regimes. We have therefore applied the exemption in section 39(2) of FOISA and dealt with your request under the EIRs alone.

Your specific request and the response from the National Park Authority are provided below.

"I am writing to ask that you explain the reasons for the delay in the opening of Loch Achray campsite. I understand rumours are circulating that the water from the borehole is undrinkable but given the Loch Chon campsite has operated without a regular water supply for over a year I am not sure this can be correct. Given all the statements that have been made about the opening of the campsite I suggest this would be best explained publicly through a news release which could also offer an apology or a simple explanation by return but, failing that, I would request under FOI/EIR:

* All information the Loch Lomond and Trossachs National Park Authority holds about the reasons for the delay in the opening of the Loch Achray campsite."

The information you requested can be found on our website here:

We can therefore advise under R6(1)(b) of the EIRs that this information is already publically available and easily accessible.
