CALLANDER

We took the Trossachs Explorer bus from Callander to Aberfoyle to begin this route which follows the Rob Roy Way the whole way, making navigation easy as it's all signposted. Starting out on the road, you then go into woods to climb up to a bridge. If the bridge is closed, you can cross the river on the stepping stones and then hangout in hammocks and see a beautiful waterfall. There are vistas out across Stirlingshire and easy running along forestry tracks. Eventually the route pops out on the shores of Loch Venachar with gorgeous views to Ben Ledi and Ben Venue. From there the trail climbs back into the woods and over the hill down into Callander.
